

2025 BUDAPEST WAGNER DAYS

Budapest Wagner Days 2025

June means it's time for some Wagner And just as it has always done for nearly two decades – Müpa doors to welcome not only fans of the great opera composer's work, but also those who want to take the greatest creator of 19th-century musical drama, one full of secrets and discoveries to be made.

The programme for the 2025 Budapest Wagner Days festival offers three exciting productions over the course of five evenings, with both of the opera productions running twice. Opening the series will be Tannhäuser, a long-time favourite. The story of the minstrel caught in a struggle between heavenly and earthly love will be brought to life by such artists as Marco Jentzsch in the title role, Dorottya Láng as Venus and Lauri
